PACKERS TRIED TO STOP PROBE CLAIMS HENEY

Telegram From Bankers to Wilson Inspired Says Investigator

MEN IN TRACTION DEALS

Ramifications of Interests Widespread Congress Told Today

By the Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The big packing interests were charged today by Francis J. Heney, special counsel for the federal trade commission's investigation into the meat packing industry with having attempted to bring pressure to bear on President Wilson to have the present investigation stopped.

Mr. Heney told the commission that he could show later that a joint telegram recently sent to the president by a number of Detroit bankers protesting that the investigation was disturbing economic conditions, had been inspired by the packers.

Confidential Files

Mr. Heney's statement was made in connection with the reading of further confidential documents taken from the files of the Chicago packers, which showed that the packers planned an elaborate campaign in 1916 to influence congressmen against ordering an investigation into the livestock and meat packing industry, as was proposed in the Borland resolution.

The recommendation was made by counsel for the packers that they should undertake to have the judiciary committees flooded with telegrams from all over the country, especially the congressional districts where the members came from, protesting against passage of the Borland resolution, on the grounds that livestock was selling at very satisfactory prices and any investigation would only disturb such satisfactory conditions.

Varied Messages

Commissioner Murdock found considerable interest in a sentence of the memorandum which recommended that all the messages should be varied. He said it was the psychology of congressmen that when they received large numbers of telegrams identical in form they suspected somebody was trying to "put something over" which undoubtedly was recognized by the senators also. Information that the packers had advance information of what was being done in connection with the Borland resolution, was contained in a memorandum taken from the files of Wilson and company, but which carried a notation showing that it was sent to all of the big five packing companies.

Mr. Fisher referred to was Walter Fisher, counsel for the livestock men who were urging the investigation.

In Traction Deals

Statements by Francis J. Heney that Wilson and company had been found in control the street railways of Kansas City was the first indication that financial ramifications of the packers reached many street railway systems.

"The influence of the packers in politics is more widespread than in any other city of the United States, except Chicago," Mr. Heney said.

Evidence of the packers' influence in the steel industry also has been discovered, Mr. Heney told Commissioner Parker who asked about that phase of the inquiry, after remarking that the packers were broadening their activities in the production of canned goods.

Control Banks

Control by the packers over financial institutions has reached such an extent, Mr. Heney said, that recently when an independent packer asked for credit from one of the big New York banks the bank wrote to Thomas E. Wilson of Wilson and company, asking if the credit should be extended.

Evidence that the packers had obtained confidential information in 1916 led Mr. Heney to protest publicly to the federal trade commission today against the practice of leaving the offices of the commission's building unguarded.

"I have several times returned and found an attorney for the packers in my office," Mr. Heney said.

Discussion of livestock buying throughout the United States by the five big packers which would have the effect of limiting competition between them, was charged by Mr. Heney on the basis of a memorandum taken from the confidential files of Edward F. Swift.

CITIZENSHIP HELD UP UNTIL CONGRESS ACTS

Stevens Says Congress May Enact Remedial Legislation

LETTER FROM STURGES

Examiner Says Courts Are Delaying Final Action On Petitions

Action on petitions for citizenship will be held up by Circuit Judge E. Ray Stevens until it is determined whether congress will enact remedial legislation.

A letter received by Judge Stevens this morning explains that congressional action may result as a large number of petitions for naturalization are being held up all over the United States.

The letter of Naturalization Examiner Sturges to Judge Stevens follows:

"Chicago, Ill.,
"January 24, 1918.

"Hon. E. Ray Stevens,
"Circuit Court,
"Madison, Wis.

"Dear Judge Stevens:

"With reference to the petitions for naturalization filed in your court based on old law declarations, you are advised that some courts have deemed it proper to continue final action on such petitions until some later date, having in mind that in view of the large number of such petitions pending in various parts of the country there is a possibility of remedial legislation being enacted by congress.

"I do not know that any such legislation has been proposed, but I can see no urgency in having the petitions dismissed at this time, or even for several months to come.

"Of course, if the petitioners desire to file declarations of intention and thus be on the way to naturalization in case it finally developes that they must base their petitions on declarations of intention not more than seven years old, there is no objection to them pursuing this course. I merely offer this in way of a suggestion.

"Very truly yours,
(Signed) "MERTON A. STURGES,
"Chief Naturalization Examiner."

PHYSICIAN IS GUILTY SAYS DELAYED JURY

King Bacon Says New Trial Will be Demanded Within Few Days

After being out over forty hours, the jury in the case of Dr. J. H. Rodermund, alleged to have performed a criminal operation on a young woman, at 8 o'clock last night returned a verdict of "Guilty".

King Bacon who with former attorney general Levi H. Bancroft defended the aged physician, stated that they will move for a new trial within five days.

The case was given to the jury at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon and from then until 8 o'clock last night the twelve men debated the proposition. It is understood that the vote throughout stood ten to two for conviction but it was not until the end of the second day that the remaining two were brought over to the nine standing for conviction.

Dr. Rodermund is 64 years of age and has attaindc some notority in Madison as an anti-quarantine physician. To prove his theory that small pox is not contagious he recently, it is said, visited a smallpox victim, and smeared the virus from his body upon himself.

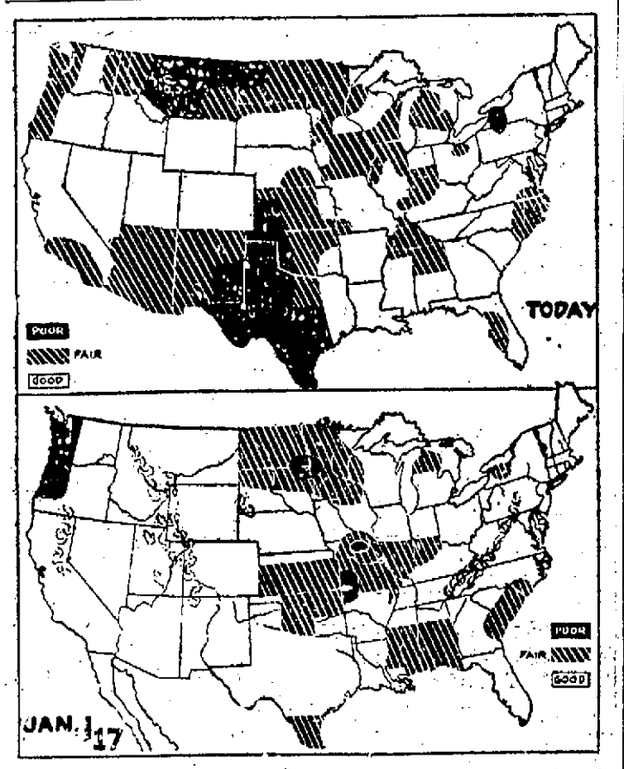

The penalty for the offense of which he was found guilty is from six months to a year imprisonment or a fine from $250 to $500.

Sentence will not be passed until after the motion for a new trial.

OBJECTION TO NIGHT WORK FOR WOMEN

Hearing is Held On The Employment of Females on Kenosha Cars

WAGES PAID ARE LOWER

Miss Copp Maintains That Car Work Imperils the Morals of The Women

Whether women should be allowed to serve as conductors on street cars, particularly in Kenosha where they are already being used, is the question before the industrial commission today. The hearings began at 10 a. m. and were continued this afternoon.

G. H. Cook, Kenosha manager of the Milwaukee Electric Light and Railway company, is the defendant in the case with the industrial commission as plaintiff. Attorney W. A. Jackson is representing Mr. Cook. Miss Tracy Copp, chairman of the woman's committee of the state industrial commission, George P. Hambrecht, Fred M. Wilcox, and Charles H. Crownhart represent the commission.

Kenosha is the only place in the state where women are employed on street cars. Here they are working on 8 hour shifts. The proposition is that the laws of the state say no woman shall be employed where her life, health, welfare, and safety are endangered. The industrial commission has the power to decide in these respects.

Miss Copp asserts that night work on street cars imperils the mornls of the women, in that they are subject to the advances of "fresh" men and that the responsibilities upon a conductor in looking after the safety of the traveling public are too much for a woman. For instance, what would she do with a boisterous drunken man on the car, Mr. Wilcox, in cross examining, claimed that the women's wages are too low. They are paid 25 cents an hour. This is less than men get for machine work. If higher wages were paid men could be found in plenty to fill the positions. Mr. Cook and his attorney, Mr. Jackson claim that the war has called so many men that the positions can no longer be filled by men.

Protests against the employment of women on city railways were read from Mrs. B. C. Gudden, Oshkosh, the legislative chairman of the Wisconsin Consumers league, and from Charles H. Crownhart, attorney for the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, and representative of the Consumers league. Their respective associations wanted to be noted as opposed to night work for women.

ART TOUCHSTONE OF HISTORY—CRANE

Noted Professor Speaks at The University On Architecture

"Art is the touchstone to history," said Ralph Adams Cram, professor of architecture, Mass. Institute of Technology, in his illustrated lecture on "Architecture and Civilization". "In the art of today we find commentaries of modern civillzation. All civilization of a high type is accompanied by a keen appreciation of art. Art is a noble expression of society.

"Whatever we have been, are, or ever shall be," said Prof. Cram, "goes back to the time of Greece. There was sin and cruelty then, as there is now, but there was effort, and effort is what counts. There is not a line in Greek architocture that is not interpretive of life.

"In Rome there was not the effort of free will, it was that of inperialism. Rome was power incarnate—everywhere power. Rome perished, but Roman inheritance remained."

There was a complete change in architecture caused by a combination of Greek, Roman, and Oriental architecture, christianity and influences from Asia. This was the first perfect union of form and color.

"Gothic is the expression of Medievalism," said Professor Cram. "Our own era started with the downfall of Constantinople in 1453. All those dream cities of the Middle Ages are gone.

"Structural organism, personal workmanship, originality nobility, magnificence, beauty, synthesis of all arts ever known, and religion are the essential qualities of Medievalism.

"We must return to this to retrieve all things which we have lost. We want art, not for art, but for beauty."

GERMAN MILITARISTS ARE WARNED BY SCHEIDEMAN; REVOLUTION IN GERMANY?

Socialist Says if Peace Does Not Come With Russia Trouble Will Happen

DISORDERS IN BERLIN?

Amsterdam Has Not Been Able to Communicate With German City

[By the Associated Press.]

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 26.—Philipp Scheidemann, president of the socialist democratic party in Germany, answering Chancellor von Hertling's speech in the main committee of the reichstag, warned the military leaders of the imperial government that if they did not bring about peace between Germany and Russia "they would be hurled from power."

Scheidemann's reply to the chancellor as published in the Berliner Vorwaerts follows:

"The chief arguments were advanced by the militarist party for the prolongation of the war, namely, the success of the U-boats and the strength of our army. But these were to have given us a decisive victory in six months, according to the announcement made in 1915. Alas, that period has long since passed and while the U-boat has admittedly harmed England enormously, its chief visible effect has been the entry of America into the war.

"If the United States had not entered the war we may be sure the Russian revolution would long ago have brought a general peace.

"What about the army? Suppose the army should capture Calais and Paris, would that mean peace? I say, 'no.'"

"Suppose the army conquered France and England, would that mean peace? I say, no, for we would still have to conquer America."

Herr Scheidermann fiercely attacked the militarist leaders declaring that their attitude toward Austria was likely to lose for Germany her last friend.

"If our government leaders cannot free us from these 'patriots,'" said the Democratic leader "they had better go. I warn them that if they do not bring us peace with Russia they will be hurled from power."

Herr Scheidermann declared that an agreement easily was possible on eleven points of President Wilson's statement.

"But Mr. Wilson must be told plainly," the speaker said, "that Alsace is Germany's and will remain so. If one clear word is spoken regarding Belgium, England's war mongering will end. An honorable, complete reinstatement of Belgium is our duty."

Disorders In Berlin?

[By the Associated Press]

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Express says that extraordinary reports are current concerning a revolution in Germany and that there have been rumors of grave disorders in Berlin during the last two days, the rioters clamoring for peace. He also reports bread riots which were ruthlessly repressed by the police; many men, women and children being wounded.

The correspondent admits that confirmation of these rumors is impossible, but thinks that it is remarkable that no telegrams, either press or commercial, were received in Holland on Friday direct from Berlin, all coming by roundabout routes. None of Thursday morning's Berlin newspapers have arrived.

Austria Wants Peace

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Austria has declared her readiness to conclude a separate peace without Germany and to accept the Russian democratic program with the exception of the self-determination of nations, says a dispatch from Petrograd to the Exchange Telegraph company.

Another dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Petrograd, dated Friday says:

"The Bolsheviki newspapers today report that great demonstrations are taking place all over Austria-Hungary. Workmen's and soldiers' organizations have been formed at Vienna.

Pan-German Control

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Chancellor von Hertling's speech is considered in official circles as confirming the supposition that General von Ludendorff, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and the pan-Germans are dictating the German government's policy.

The intention appears clearly on the part of the Germans to seek to treat separately with each of the antagonists.

Count Czernin's speech is regarded as having the same foundation, although the form of expression is different.

Here's the plan to prove to him that helping defend our country doesn't mean losing every bit of fun in life.

It isn't one of those talk propositions—it exists. It's all ready. It's past the planning stage. It's a real thing. It's "Smileage."

"Smileage" means fun, recreation, entertainment—it means "going to the show."

Big theatres, auditoriums or tents, have been provided in each of the sixteen National Army Cantonments and National Guard Camps, and big shows will appear in them.

Not only musical features, lectures, entertainers, humorists and entertainments of that sort, but Chautauqua programs, vaudeville shows and moving pictures.

The lyceum talent, the theatrical producers, the managers — all these splendid people are giving their time virtually for living wages and at a minimum of cost to the government.

Your boy in camp can see a dollar or two dollar show for five, ten, fifteen or twenty-five cents. You want to send your soldier boy to a show. Your Smileage Book will do it for you.

* * *

A Smileage Book of twenty coupons costs you a dollar; one of one hundred coupons costs you five dollars.

Buy one today — send it to that soldier boy—let him enjoy the shows all the more because he knows you keep on thinking of him.

About the time you figure he has used the first book, of coupons send him another.

Think how you are going to enjoy doing this.

Let Madison folks do their part for "Our Boys". We should send a dollar for every Dane County boy in the service.

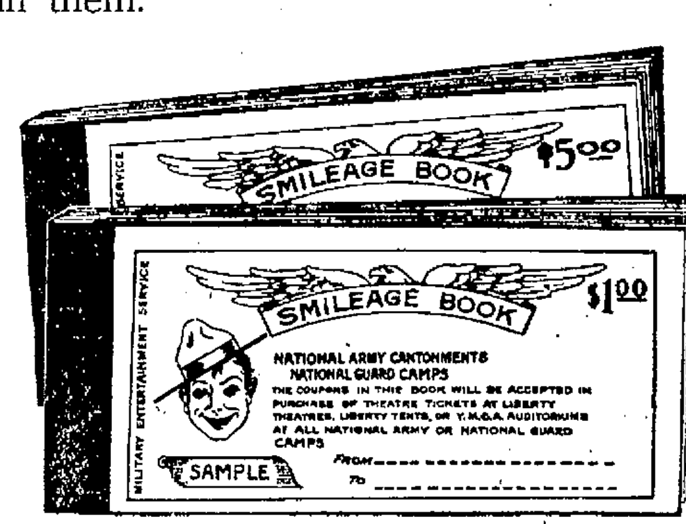

Let's show those boys in khaki that the folks back home can't forget them.

Why, it will be better than a letter!

Buy your first book today.

Your soldier boy will be looking for it.

Send your remittance to The Capital Times Co., we will forward it to the National Secretary.

This space is donated by The Capital Times so that every reader of this newspaper may have an opportunity to send at least one Smileage Book to one of our Soldier Boys.

OUR EMPLOYES ORGANIZE

THE clerks of the Madison Post Office have organized themselves into a union. In doing so they have simply exercised the most fundamental right accorded to American citizens, the right to act together for the betterment of their working conditions.

This is a union in which every person in the city has, or ought to have, a very deep interest. The Madison Post Office is in fact the property of the people of the city of Madison. Every patron of that office is in fact a partner or stockholder in the business, which employs these men. While the work of the office is directed from Washington, the primary purpose of this institution is to serve the people, who live here.

As employers then the patrons of the Madison Post Office are interested in securing efficient service. They are no less interested in seeing to it that those who work for them shall not only receive decent wages but shall also enjoy the best of working conditions. Both of these conditions are essential to efficiency. More than any other organization of laboring men in this city, the men who make up this union deserve the sympathetic support of everyone, who has the slightest interest in the welfare of those who work for a living.

It is needless to review the struggle of the postal employes to secure both the right to organize, and an increase in wages commensurate with the recent increase in the cost of living. Both of these demands have been bitterly fought by Postmaster General Burleson, whose conception of the rights of laboring men dates back to the early part of the last century. Organization therefore becomes absolutely necessary, if the postal employes are to secure an effective presentation of their claims for relief.

Some there are who oppose the organization of employes in the public service. There is no more reason why men or women, who work for the public, should be considered slaves to their jobs than the employes of private business. The person, who enters the public service, should not be called upon to surrender any of the rights, which are accorded to every other class of citizens.

The union of Postal Employes is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. They will have the solid backing of organized labor, both locally and throughout the entire nation. They will also carry with them the hearty good wishes of the great mass of the people of the city of Madison.

Postal employes are human beings, and are entitled to be treated as such. Any effort on the part of the autocrats of the Postal service to break up this organization will not only merit, but will receive, the whole hearted condemnation of the real masters of the Postal service—the American people.

PATRIOTS FOR PUBLICATION

MANY people have wondered why the recent issues of Liberty bonds should sell at a discount on the New York stock exchange ranging from two to as much as four per cent. below par. The following account of a statement issued by a treasury official is rather illuminating. It is also authoritative, as it is taken from that eminently respectable journal of information and opinion, the Wall Street Journal:

"Too many patriots for publication," a Treasury chief declared, "helped to float the original issue of Treasury bonds. Men of large means bought big blocks in order that gossip or the newspapers might make the fact known. But these men had no intention of letting the nation use their dollars even in a great emergency—it was going to be the next man's dollars. So the original buyers held their bonds only long enough to keep from breaking the market sharply. By degrees they unloaded in order to reinvest for larger profits. That their continuous, heavy sales have eventually depressed the Liberty issues from 2 to 4% did not much concern these public spirited gentlemen: accustomed to taking traders' risks, they were quite willing to accept a small loss as the price of their reputation for generously 'doing their bit.'"

Some patriots bought Liberty bonds to escape the payment of excess profits and supertaxes. Others bought them for the attendant publicity. We thus have Patriots for Profit, and Patriots for Publication.

The moral for the small investor is to buy War Savings Stamps. They pay a higher rate of interest than either Liberty bonds or a savings bank account. They can be redeemed on ten days' notice with interest, and with no decreases in the principal. Their value is not subject to the manipulation of stock gamblers and patriots, seeking profit or publicity.

FINANCIAL NOTE

Lackawanna Steel will show over $25,000,000 net profit, before deducting excess profits taxation, for 1917. These taxes are estimated at around $9,500,000, so that the actual balance applicable to dividends may be placed at approximately $15,500,000, equivalent to nearly $45 a share on the $35,096,000 stock outstanding.

Earnings of $15,500,000 net for stock for 1917 would compare with $12,218,234 in 1916, $2,409,108 in 1915 and a deficit of $1,652,444 in 1914.—Wall Street Journal.

HER HEAVEN

I shall be young again—and pretty enough
To make the saints smile at me as I pass
With swift, white feet across the heavenly grass.

I shall be gay and careless, and my heart,
Forever like some hidden bird, shall sing
Of some approaching and most lovely thing.

Surely, a thought absurd, unorthodox.
Stained here and there with lines like slanting rain.
That shows a woman neat and tired and plain.

But in that mirror that no other sees
I watch sometimes the girl in Paradise—
Pretty—and young—with laughter in her eyes.

WAR SUMMARY

[By the Associated Press]

Discussion of war aims—or peace terms—is claiming public attention almost to the total exclusion of military affairs. Active operations, in fact, are in progress nowhere just at present, except in the way of the never-ceasing cannonading along the various fronts and the reconnoitering activities.

Echoes of the speeches delivered by Count von Hertling, the German imperial chancellor, and Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, are plentifully found in the comment of the press, and there seems comparatively little diversity of opinion in the various allied capitals.

The prevailing view in London, as reflected in the press, is that Germany has adopted what amounts to an uncompromising attitude, desiring to listen to no peace terms but her own, while Austria, although more conciliatory because of internal conditions, nevertheless is unswervingly faithful to her German ally.

A representative French view is that the Central powers are revealed in the speeches as trying to drive a wedge between the allied nations by attempting to open separate debates with each.

Some of the foreign commentators attach considerable importance to the invitation of the German chancellor for continued conversations on the subject of peace terms.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

Life's Biggest Joy

For all the gold of all the kings,
And all of their ancestral line,
I would not give the little things—
The simple joys that I call mine.

Tho' gems encrust each royal cup,
I still would drink from pewter, least
I'd miss the eyes that, welling up,
Brim across at me and call me blest!

For gems that stud the royal hands
I would not give a single tear
Of joy I shed when baby hands
Confide in mine and laugh at fear.

The jingle in their royal palm
Of all the gold they ever had,
Discordant is beside the psalm,
When children smile and call me "Dad."

Knitters' nerves is the latest society ailment, as outlined by an eminent medical authority. He says the nervous twitching of the needles hither and yon makes many a young girl a nervous wreck. Also, it wrecks the nerves of the people who have to sit next to them in street cars expecting to have an eye poked out.

Knitters' nerves? Sure.

Some of them have a nerve. We've always known that. But if we knit our way to Potsdam let us do it sanely.

Observe yon weary debutante.
How listlessly she drags herself along.
See how feverishly she knits and knits and knits.
She is a slave to the knitting needle.
She is a victim of the new disease, knitting nerves.
Discovered by Dr. Weizmiller of New York.
Dropping stitches and seeking to catch them
Have made her a hollow-eyed wreck.
And she must desist.
Millions of them must desist.
The jerky motions of knitting
Are putting them on the blink.
They have all got to knit less,
Especially in public places, where the
Distractions are numerous.
Heaven bless you, Doc.
You have made a discovery worth while.

The State Press

Though everything else stays high, mercury is generally lower.—Eau Claire Leader.

Everything goes by comparison. After a few days of zero temperature and below, a temperature of ten degrees above seems almost like summer.—Appleton Post.

And now Mr. La Follette wants The Madison Journal men to tell him whether or not it meant to libel him. Mr. Jones meekly responds that he didn't and that ought to end the incident.—Kenosha News.

After the war, will the women who have been running big relief enterprises and business concerns be willing to go back to the old life nibbling wafers and swapping small talk at 5 o'clock teas?—Janesville Gazette.

A trip through the southern part of the state, where the snow drifts are from three to six feet deep, will satisfy any Wausau man that this city has been extremely fortunate thus far this winter.—Wausau Record-Herald.

The Kenosha News offers a new one. It says: "And if the legislature can give the governor power to appoint a United States senator why not give him power to oust one, too?" This would give him two appointments and one ousting. That would be great stuff. Manitowoc Herald.

A little more snow; then probably a little more cold. But after this program has been repeated a few more times the birds will begin to return from the south and spring will be here. However, there are those who pronounce spring the most trying season of the year.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Well, despite the operation of the retiring board machinery of the army, they do say that Wisconsin will have a brigadier general in the thick of it on the other side of the water and that he has gone to France or will soon be there. This refers to General Charles R. Boardman.—Eau Claire Telegram.

If any one wanted proof of the fact that Ashland ought to go dry this spring a glance over the news column of The Daily Press yesterday ought to furnish plenty of it and to spare. One man dead with the treamens, one man guilty of an unmentionable crime committed while crazy drunk and one man guilty of robbery while in the same condition. And we are going to stay in the business. No! We've had enough!—Ashland Press.

The fuel order, let us hope, will knock a little more of the war spirit into the country—a little more of self-sacrifice, a little more of realization as to what war is and its duties are toward it. Instead of hurting the nation it will do it good. It will make it buckle up its belt a few more notches for the work ahead. It will create more civic morale in a week than oratory and brass bands and futile appeals could create in months.—Green Bay Press-Gazette.

As far as The Eagle-Star can learn, there was cheerful compliance hereabouts with the new coal-saving edict. The feeling was general that we were game enough to stand for a little sacrifice when it contributes toward the great victory the nation seeks in its war with the Hun. It is difficult to account for the hysteria of opposition that blazed up for a day or two in congress except on the ground of "politics." What a lot of two by fours get into the national legislative assemblies.—Marinette Eagle-Star.

THEN AND NOW

I called the coal man on the phone
When summer wheeled her flowery flight,
And made my modest wishes known.
To-wit: a ton of anthracite.
His voice was soft, his voice was kind
(Remember, this was last July);
And quite to set at rest my mind
He made the following reply:

"A ton of coal? Sure! Right away.
I'm grateful for your order, sir;
I'll have it in your bin today,
And twenty more, if you prefer!
You can't afford so much right now?
Don't let that trouble you at all;
I'll send it up there anyhow,
And you can pay some time next fall!"

I called the coal man on the phone
When it was twenty-two below,
And all the shivering temperate zone
Was buried under ice and snow.
His voice was rough, his voice was rude
(Remember, this was yesterday);
His speech was coarse and cross and crude;
And this is what he had to say:

"A ton of coal, you bone-headed simp!
A ton of coal? Well, I guess not!
Somebody ought to put a crimp
In such a nerve as you have got!
Say, I've been pestered quite enough
By guys like you. It makes me sore!
Hang up the phone, you dippy stuff,
And don't call me up no more!"

—Boston Advertiser.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Ann Luther has been chosen to adorn and enhance the forthcoming seven-part story, "Moral Suicide," a Graphic production. Iran Abramson, Graphic head, announces that John Mason has been signed to play the father of the story and that Miss Luther will interpret the part of Beatrice Covington, a feminine role that is said to be rich in possibilities for an artist of Miss Luther's talents.

Miss Luther's rare comeliness and histrionic genius as well as her unusual photographic qualities have recommended her for the part. Her distinctive eyes and hair and her pleasing figure have charmed film followers almost from the very day, more than four years ago, when she first tried a part with the Reliance company under the direction of D. W. Griffith. She has won prominence since with her excellent work in pictures produced by Lubin, Kinetophote and William Fox and will be remembered for her parts in "A Man's Shadow," "A Double Life" and "The Beast."

Miss Luther recently completed her posing for "Who's to Blame," a picture that has only been privately shown as yet, and in arriving in New York from the coast she was immediately signed by Mr. Abramson.

Gladys Mary Moore, otherwise Mary Pickford, has filed a general denial to the suit instituted against her by Cora Wilkening in an endeavor to recover damages estimated at $103,750. Benefits

Still, it isn't so bad, when you can dance, play cards, and go to parties and have a clear conscience about it, too. How much one little fact changes the whole outlook. Many of our present day war workers would have been scandalized at spending a whole evening at a card party, where you can't possibly knit and play cards at the same time. Think of the time wasted and how many a seemingly(?) conscientious person would nudge his neighbor, and say, "I spose it isn't right for us to spend a whole evening at cards, but—" But just put one little word in front of card party and make it a benefit card party and the whole situation is changed. No one feels guilty. Everyone will respond to the appeal of being entertained themselves and at the same time furnishing entertainment for the soldiers.

And following this theory the Catholic Woman's club and Knights of Columbus joint card party at the K.C.hall last night was a big success. The proceeds from the party will be used to furnish clean, wholesome entertainment for the boys in camp.

Banquet Benefits Red Cross

Another big affair last night which netted considerable money for the Red Cross was the Scotch banquet and program given by the Dane County Caledonian society at the Woman's building. It is perfectly all right to eat at such places, said Magnus Swenson yesterday, because you would have to eat at home anyway and what does it matter where you eat so long as your cook follows Hoover suggestions.

* * *

Church Benefit Party

A much more "home like" benefit, so to speak, was the card party given by the Young Woman's sodality of St. Bernard's church last Wednesday evening. Over 150 people had a "perfectly grand time," according to reports, and also added immensely to the church's financial fund, and churches have to have money to keep going as well as the war.

Matinee Dance

That the Lowell school children will have more milk and hot soup to drink with their noon day lunches will be the result of the benefit dance being given by the educational department of the Woman's club this afternoon. This is the fourth of a series of dances for this fund and those who went to the first one haven't missed one since and wouldn't miss one under any circumstances. "We have such a good time, it is so awfully informal," is the report of the younger dancing set. You know it isn't necessary to have a partner to go to these dances so no one stays home wiating for an invitation. The chaperones for this afternoon are the Meadames A. J. Vinje, A. M. Stondall, J. K. Chorlog, Alexander Kornhauser, Charles Riley, and George G. Riley.

The luncheon is found to be the most convenient way of getting the members together but the emphasis of the meeting is put on business and relief work. Most of the members bring Red Cross knitting and for those who do not knit Mrs. Buell furnishes articles to be made for the French relief.

Have S. R. O. Meeting

The Madison chapter of Wisconsin Women Wage Earners held a S. R. O. (standing room only) meeting, as Miss Tracp Copp expressed it, at the Century club last night. Yes, the room was small, but then in proportion there certainly was a crowd. Following the program light refreshments were served by the Misses Jeanette Hansen, Florence Hayes, Bessie Holloway, Kraft, Olga Osland, Gladys Parker and Mrs. S. H. Van Deusen.

Miss Irma Hochstein presided at the meeting. Miss Leila Bascom talked for three minutes on the Americanization work among the foreign women in California. The three necessary points in this work, she said, are to establish a point of contact, to form friendly relations with them, and to teach them the English language.

Miss Tracy Copp, chairman of the women's committee of the state industrial commission, who is in Madison to attend the hearings before the industrial commission this morning on women's hours, gave an interesting account of the work of the factory inspectors. There are two women inspectors in the state whose duty it is to look after the hours, conditions of labor, sanitation, and safety codes in over 3,000 establishments employing over 50,000 women.

Several lines of new work have been opened to women since the beginning of the war. Over 300 have entered the metal trades. Women are being put on as elevator operators in hotels, public buildings, and stores. In a few places they are being put on as conductors on street cars, but this is being discouraged by the industrial commission, on account of the night work and the responsibilities for the safety of the public.

It was voted by the club that the organization committee appoint a committee to investigate women's wages.

Food Classes

The food conservation classes being taught by Miss Emma Conley at 112 South Pinckney street, have proved to be very popular, so much so that extra sessions have been held in the afternoon for the benefit of those who were not able to register in the morning classes. In this way the committee is attempting to bring the matter of food saving before housekeepers who otherwise do not attend meetings.

Following the session this morning Miss Abby Marlatt gave a short patriotic talk after which the women had lunch at the Capitol cafe. They then returned to the rooms for a special demonstration to be given by Miss Conley. The representatives from the rural districts met later in the afternoon.

Madison Patriotic Club

The Madison Patriotic club held its regular meeting at the home of Dr. H. R. Bird and Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Lewis, 1212 Mound street, Thursday evening. The meeting proved very interesting, the subject being "What does the Government ask of women, and what do women ask of the Government?" The subject was ably presented by Mrs. Georgianna Koppke and discussed in the roll call, Mrs. C. T. Ellis gave a reading, "Our Flag", and C. Z. Wise read a poem, "Playing the Game". The club is to have a group photograph made at the meeting to be held Feb. 21 in the G. A. R. rooms at the State capitol, and Civil War veterans who marched under any of the flags now being made ready for placing in the glass case and sealed, are invited to be present and be in the group bearing the flag of their regiment. All members of the club are requested to remember the date and be present at 7:30 sharp.

Fiske, former chairman of the finance committee and a member of the yarn committee, to the effect that $1500.52 had been raised in the yarn campaign and the 100 pounds of wool yarn and 50 pounds of worsted yarn for socks had already been purchased. The Dane County Equal Suffrage league is uniting with the Business Woman's Suffrage club in this project.

A petition entitled, "Can the city of Madison change from an appointive to an elective school board system under section 926-117 of the Wisconsin statute 1915," was read and a number of the members signed.

Mrs. Sumner McKnight, Minneapolis, told of her experiences in the recent New York suffrage campaign, in which she took an active part. "Keep up your enthusiasm for in 5 years we will have the vote," was her message to the Madison leagues.

In her remarkable performance of the star part in "Polly of the Circus," she became the idol of the nation. Her most recent stage appearance was in Hall Caine's "The Woman Thou Gavest Me."

MAJESTIC

Mere conjecture does so much harm, especially when woven into a web of circumstantial evidence sufficiently plausible to convict innocent persons that, "Fanatics," the new Triangle play showing at the Majestic today should serve a valuable purpose in exposing many fallacies of human nature. It is not a moralizing drama, but will send you home thinking and desirous of being more fair in your judgment. To tell you any more of it would spoil the story for you. So see it.

Badger Basketball Five In Crucial Game With Boilermakers Tonight

TITLE HOPES OF LOCAL FIVE GONE

Eau Claire Crushes Madison High Team 26 to 18

UPSTATE CAPTAIN STAR

Guarding of Locals Not Good Enough to Stop Attack

[By the Associated Press.]

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Jan. 26.—Madison's title seeking basketball five received a bad defeat Friday night at the hands of Eau Claire with the stinging score of 26 to 18. The locals fiercely contended for every point the upstaters secured in what was perhaps the hardest game on their schedule, but they succumbed to the spectacular basket tossing of Captain Cleasby of the opposing team.

Eau Claire retained four veterans of their championship team of a year ago, namely Brodie, Cummings, McNabb and Cleasby, and through these the Madison aggression was unable to penetrate to secure a victory.

Captain Cleasby, the Eau Claire star, secured six long and difficult field goals in spite of careful guarding of the Yellow and Black five. He and his running mate, Anderson, played a hard and speedy game which resulted in the Eau Claire win. Tauchen, the local leader, ran a close second in individual honors of the game. He secured five difficult goals from the field and made four out of six free throws.

Tenney and Mathison, the Madison high guards, gave the northerners the game of their life, but were unable to keep their record clean. The expert playing of McNabb and Brodie for the upstaters was a feature of the game. The high school team arrived in the city at 4 o'clock this morning.

Lineup and summary:

| Madison | | Eau Claire |
|---|---|---|
| Tauchen | RF | Cleasby |
| Gunderson | LF | Anderson |
| Gill | C | McNabb |
| Mathison | RG | Brodie |
| Tenney | LG | Cummings |

Goals from field—Eau Claire: Cleasby, 6; McNabb, 3; Anderson, 1; Cummings, 2. Madison: Tauchen, 5; Mathison, 2.

Free throws—Tauchen, 4 out of 6; Cummings, 2 out of 4.

Referee—Loop.

FRIDAY SPORT RESULTS

Jack Dempsey, Pacific coast heavyweight, knocked out Homer Smith, of Benton Harbor, in the first round at Racine.

Jack Wolfe outpointed Johnny Ertle in a ten round bout at Cleveland.

Grover Alexander, pitcher, and Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, have reached an agreement regarding the bonus to be paid the former. It is said Alexander will receive $5,000 for signing a contract.

Francis Quimet, former national amateur and open champion, was restored to amateur standing by the United States Golf association in its annual meeting at Philadelphia, on the grounds that his entry into the military service eliminated the professionalism which caused his disbarment. Frederick S. Wheeler, of Apawamis, was chosen president and it was decided to hold no amateur championship during the war.

In the three cushion tournament of the American Billiard Players' Ambulance Fund, Robert Cannefax defeated Hugh Heal, 50 to 40; John Layton won from John Moore, 50 to 38; Clarence Jackson outplayed George Moore, 50 to 30; and Charles McCourt beat Charles Morin, 50 to 33, at Chicago. Cannefax is now in the lead.

STEINAUER'S GYM CLASS IS GROWING

Business Men's Class Now Numbers Sixty-Two

An increase to sixty-two members of Joe Steinauer's Association of Commerce gym class has necessitated the moving of the class from the Presbyterian church gym to the high school. Coach Steinauer is growing enthusiastic over the work, and says that the growing of the class seems bound to continue.

The days for the meeting of the class have been made Tuesday and Thursday, and the work for the present will continue along calesthenic lines with games to make things interesting.

OUIMET AGAIN MADE AMATEUR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 26.—The United States Golf association at its annual meeting here Friday night virtually unanimously adopted a resolution reinstating Francis Ouimet, former national amateur golf champion. There was only one dissenting vote.

FOUR LOCAL FIVES ON ALLEYS TODAY

High Standing Madison Teams Roll at Menasha

MENASHA, Wis., Jan. 26.—Four Madison teams will roll Saturday afternoon in the state bowling tournament. The Chili Als, Pan Dandys, and the Capitol and Park alley fives will represent the state capital in the afternoon and evening matches. F. Gauer and partner will roll in the doubles event about midnight Saturday.

No changes resulted in the standings of the leaders in the tournament on Friday. The Imperials of Fond du Lac still lead in the team events. The Waupaca Potato Diggers brought a bunch of rooters which failed to land them in the money. Rivalry between Twin city teams in the all events is keen. Many good teams are expected in the last half of the tournament. Milwaukee will be here strong Saturday and Sunday.

New World's Ski Jumping Record Looked For at National Tourney on Sunday

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—With an entry list of more than fifty contestants, a new world's record for ski jumping is looked for in the national tournament to be held under the auspices of the Norge Ski club at Cary, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, on Sunday. The recent heavy snow has made conditions perfect for the sport.

Eighty percent of the best ski experts in the country will compete. Henry Hall, who won the world's record for long distance jumping with a leap of 203 feet at Steamboat Springs, Colo., last year, will attempt to better this mark. Ragnar Omtvedt, professional national title holder; Fred Bruun, who made the longest jump in the Carey tournament last winter; Barney Reilly of Mount Horeb, Wis., and ten other professionals have said they will start.

Hans Hansen of Minneapolis, the national amateur champion, will defend his honors. Bernherd Olsson and Sigfried Steinwall, two Swedish amateur stars, also are among the entrants. Steinwall formerly held the amateur championship of Sweden.

The three mile cross country ski run for women has attracted a big entry list.

Among the entrants are:

Professionals—Fred Bruun, Ragnar Omtvedt, Henry Hall, Sigurd Hansen; Norge Ski club; Lars Haugen, Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Erling Landvick, Mount Horeb, Wis.; Knute Helland, Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Einar Lund, Ishpeming, Mich.; Andrew Olsen, Iola, Wis.; Barney Reilly, Mount Horeb, Wis.

Amateurs—Hans Hansen, Minneapolis, Minn.; Jack Beard, George Campen, University of Wisconsin; Malvis Sundbye, Stoughton, Wis.; Frank Olsen, Nels Rund, G. Ostensen, T. Jensen, E. Pettersen, A. Sletner, Christ Jellum, Haldor Hagen, Einar Jensen, Einar Gongell, Norge Ski club; Earl Gundersen, Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Valdo Hansen Beloit, Wis.; Sigurd Bergersen, Duluth, Minn.; H. Hagene, Mount Horeb, Wis.; Swen Welhaven, Milwaukee, Wis.; O. Smithborg, Mount Horeb, Wis.; Christen Johnson, Beloit, Wis.; Einar Nielsen, Madison, Wis.; Oscar Sundbye, Mark Yost, and J. Guttormsen, and Alfred Burresen, Beloit, Wis.; Bernherd Olsson, New York City; Sigfried Steinwall.

A. B. C. ENTRIES TO DATE OVER 400

Great Interest Taken in National Bowling Tourney

CHICAGO ENTRY IS 100

Cincinnati Will Also Have Large Delegation

Over 400 entries have already been received for the American Bowling congress that will be held in Cincinnatti February 16 to March 10. And this number does not include the Cincinnatti teams which are stretching every effort to enroll to their greatest strength.

It is estimated that before the entry list is complete, 700 teams will have entered. The closing date of entry is February 1. As usual the outside entry is led by Chicago with over one hundred teams, followed by Detroit with 40, Cleveland with 35, Toledo and Milwaukee with 25 each, Columbus and Dayton with 20, St. Louis with 15 to 20 teams, Pittsburgh and Buffalo with 10 to 15 teams, Indianapolis with 25, Louisville with 15, Peoria with 12, Akron with 15, and quite a few from a distance, including five from St. Paul, six from Kansas City, two from Toronto, two from Denver, and the usual number from Des Moines and Omaha.

The tournament promises to be representative, and everyone is eager to get back to Cincinnati, especially those who attended the "Tournament of no Regrets," which was held in the Queen City in 1908, and which has gone down in memory of the bowlers as the greatest bowling tournament ever held in the world, and one that is talked of today by the old timers, and listened to by the new comers who are anxious to get to the town ruled by Garry Herrmann, and this same Garry is at the head of the bowling committee, which will entertain the bowlers. This fact alone will bring hundreds of supporters from the outside as Mr. Herrmann has a very hospitable reputation.

The entries close within a few days, and those interested had better get into communication quickly with secretary Langtry at Cincinnatti.

PACKEY M'FARLAND GETS LIFE INSURED

Thinks He Needs Full Insurance as Camp Boxing Instructor

LOUISIVLLE, Ky., Jan. 26.—Packey McFarland, boxing instructor at Camp Zachary Taylor, is taking no chances in these days of preparedness. He applied at the War Risk Bureau for a $10,000 complete disability insurance policy.

"Why the 'complete disability' Packey?" a clerk asked.

"Everybody in this camp is so blooming healthy that I'm afraid some of these heavyweights might hit me so hard that my family will need a whole lot of insurance." The Chicago wizard of the ring will get a policy.

U. W. High Wins Overtime Game

MONROE, Wis., Jan. 26.—Wisconsin high school defeated Monroe's fast high school basketball team here Friday in a game so evenly contested that it required five minutes' overtime to decide it, the final count standing 30 to 27.

The locals had the edge on the visitors during the first half, which ended 14 to 6 in Monroe's favor. The university highs came back strong in the second period, however, and tied up the score. In the overtime play the locals scored 3 and the visitors 6.

Loomis and Rowley starred for the university highs. The line-up follows:

SPEED STOCK IS EQUITY APPEAL TO W. G. M'ADOO

Maintain Delays at Terminals Prevent Early Marketing

DELAYED AFTER ARRIVAL

Farmers Maintain Belt Lines Are Slow in Getting to the Market

The national board of the American Society of Equity has directed to Director General McAdoo a communication in which the railroad head is urged to use his powers to speed up shipments of stock.

The Equity people maintain shipments are often delayed after they are turned over to the belt lines at the terminals.

The Equity's letter to McAdoo follows:

"Madison, Wis.,
"Jan. 7th, 1918.

"Honorable W. G. McAdoo,
"Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir:

"Appreciating the present position of our country and the great efforts being made to place it in the most effident position and condition, and deeming it only necessary that the matters herein spoken of be brought to your attention:

"It is recognized that food is the basic necessity at the present time, and live stock on the hoof constitutes one of the absolutely necessary parts of the food supply of the nation. There have been in the past and are now many complaints for delays in the transportation of live stock shipments from points of origin to the terminal markets, largely because of congested conditions in terminals, and because of slow and unsatisfactory service in the handling of trains and the switching of cars to the terminal stock yards.

"Where delays in delivery of stock at the terminal railroads are responsible for the stock missing the market for which it is intended with a consequent reduction and depreciation in value as well as in additional cost to the producer for marketing such live stock over until the next day's market. Where delays at terminals has been responsible for an inability on the part of the railroad companies to move promptly furnish cars ordered for livestock and other shipments. It has also resulted in a great many claims because of such poor service and poor delivery rendered by the railroad companies and building up a series of conditions which have proven detrimental to a greater production of a greater effort toward production of food stuffs, and we feel that unless something is now done to overcome these conditions there will be a serious shortage in the production of live stock to be shipped to market for manufacture into food stuffs which is also contributed to by the shortage of feed and the high cost of everything entering into the production of live stock and farming operations in general.

"We believe that at this time your attention as a government official should be called to complaints made by producers located at many shipping points in northwestern Iowa and southern Minnesota in the big belt who advise their inability to get proper car equipment for the transportation of their live stock to market while local or competitive buyers at the same points have been able to secure cars in which to make their shipments, thus depriving the farmer producers of the opportunity to co-operatively ship their stock to the terminal markets and secure full market value for their livestock, thus creating a condition which we do not believe will meet with the approval of the food administration.

"The terminal for the South St. Paul market is located at Hoffman avenue, and the stock consigned to South St. Paul is there taken in charge by the St. Paul Bridge and Terminal Co., who deliver the stock to the stock yards located at South St. Paul. The terminals at Chicago are at Blue Island avenue, at Western avenue, and other points of like character around the city named, and the stock arriving there is delivered to the Union Stock Yards Co. by the Chicago Belt Line railway and other carriers, and instances are of daily occurrence where a large percentage of the day's receipts are delayed from four to eight hours and longer from the terminal to the unloading chutes, a distance of from four to six miles. There are instances also where the stock arriving at terminals during the night and up to five and six o'clock in the morning have not been delivered to the stock yards until afternoon, making a delay of from four to ten hours in the arrival of stock, and naturally blocking efficient handling of other commodities in transportation through such terminals. As the markets open at eight a. m., and ordinarily close at three p. m., so that stock sold that day can be properly filled and weighed up, such late arrival of stock as above mentioned practically precludes this late arriving stock from sale and disposition on the day of arrival, necessitating the carrying over until the next day with the attendant extra feed charges, depreciation in appearance and value of such stock, which, of course, under the present system all has to be borne by the farmer producers who are members of ours and like organizations in some cases.

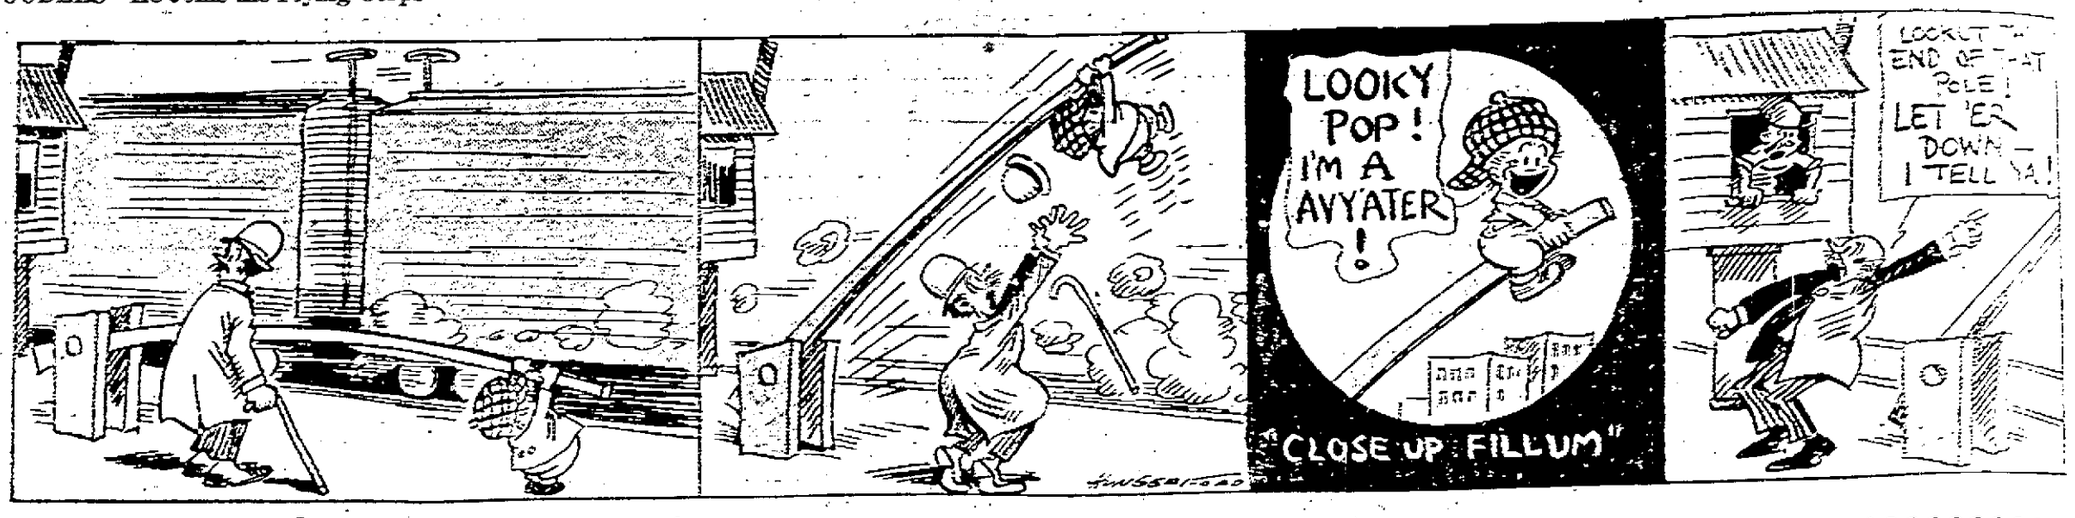

"We will be very glad to furnish you with concrete examples substantiating the above at any time you may desire, also meet any representative you may wish or co-operate with you in every way possible.

"Awaiting your suggestion, we are
"Yours truly,
"(Signed) "American Society of Equity.

SEES PASSING OF TOWN COW

Agricultural College Says Big Change Has Recently Occurred

MANY CONDENSERIES

Increase in Wisconsin Has Been Marked in Recent Years, Says Report

The passing of the town cow is a noticeable feature of the change that is coming about in the milk business of Wisconsin. Whether or not it is a desirable change is often questioned, although, with modern condition, it is a necessary change. It may be attributed mainly to the following causes:

(1)—Growth of cities, with a consequent increase in municipal sanitary regulations.

(2)—Increased restrictions placed on the retailing of milk. Most of those who keep a cow for the home supply have a few quarts to retail at certain seasons of the year, and to these any restrictions are irksome.

(3)—Increased cost of keeping cows in town, due to high prices of feeds and barns, and to the high prices of the cows themselves.

(4)—Improvement of the milk supply of the various municipalities.

Report on Eau Claire

At Eau Claire, a city of about 19,000 an attempt was made to ascertain the number of cows kept for milk. As nearly as could be learned there were about 75 in the spring of 1916, some of these being owned by what are really city dairymen. One such owner, for example, kept six cows, from which he delivered the milk in bottles to his neighbors, making his daily rounds on foot. He charged but 5 cents a quart, whereas the prevailing price was 6 and 7 cents a quart. At other places the number of cows kept in town is still smaller. In Milwaukee, Dr. Bryant, in charge of food inspection, estimated that there were scarcely a dozen cows in the city proper, whereas formerly there were hundreds.

In the smaller towns and villages there are proportionately more cows; in some cases the greater part of the milk used is still from cows within the city limits, though even there more milk is being sold by men who make a practice of selling.

Is New Industry

"The manufacture of condensed milk is a relatively new industry," says a bulletin of the University just issued. "The first patent covering the process was issued in 1856 to Gail Borden. The same year a factory was operated at Walcottville, Conn., but it was not until several years later that the condensing of milk can be said to have been successful. The industry had a fairly uniform growth until in 1899 the number of factories reached 50. By 1909 this number had increased to 135, of which 26 factories were in Wisconsin. In 1917 Wisconsin alone has 50 condenseries.

"During the past few years the increase in output in Wisconsin has been phenomenal. In 1915 Wisconsin condenseries purchased 296,607,532 pounds of whole milk. This, had it all been made into condensed milk, would have produced approximately 160,000,000 pounds, over five times the amount produced in the state in 1909."
